SPECIAL VENIRE
OF 100 IS DRAWNNames of Jurors For Harris Trial
Not Made Public Because Diffculty is Anticipated.

IN OBTAINING JURY IN CASE

Jurors Are Ordered to Report Wednesday Morning at Nine—Noonday Trip.

A venire of a hundred jurors was drawn this morning by the jury commissioners for the Harris murder trial which begins Wednesday. The jurors will be ordered to report Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. The commissioners were ordered by the court to draw the venire Saturday but did not do it until this afternoon.

Judge Blair decided this morning not to make the names of the special venire of jurors for this case public today. This is done, it is said, so that farmers will not know their names have been drawn to serve as jurymen in this case until they have been summoned to appear by Sheriff Bebout.

This action was taken to lessen the trouble that is anticipated in getting a jury. On account of the wide dissemination of the details of the case and the prominence of the family involved, it is expected that some difficulty will be met in obtaining a jury. The enormity of the crime with which Paul Harris is charged has served to add additional interest in the case, and has caused more than passing attention to be paid to it.

On account of the things that are at stake in the case, it is said that the attorneys for both the State and the defense will be very exacting in their selection of jurymen. That they will adhere to certain things which will not allow jurymen to qualify if they (the jurors) do not coincide with either the defense's or prosecution's views is almost certain.

Nothing of special importance developed in the case today. Wallace Morgan, deputy prosecutor, John H. Kiplinger, assistant in the Harris

STOCKINGER GOES
TO MILROY SCHOOLSFormer Local High School Instructor
Resigns Position in Connersville Public Schools.

NICE WORDS SAID ABOUT HIM

W. A. Stockinger, who has served during the closing school year as principal of the Fifth street building, tendered his resignation to take effect at the expiration of the present school term, says the Connersville News. This move is taken merely to forestall the probability of his reselection for some position in the city schools next year.

Mr. Stockinger's work this year has been exceedingly satisfactory to the school board, the patrons and the pupils. His leaving is sincerely regretted by them, and no less by the man himself. He says he has found much pleasure and inspiration here, and nothing short of the inducements extended by the larger position—that of principalship of the schools of Milroy, Indiana, which he goes to accept—could tempt him to leave. He goes with the hearty good will of many scores of friends in Connersville, whose hopes for his larger success are real indeed.

case, and Philo Culbertson, chief witness in the case, who is being held in jail under a $250 bond to testify during the trial, made a trip to the scene of the tragedy of Tuesday, March 12, during the noon hour today. The reason for the trip was not disclosed.

SUPERSTITIOUS
ONES CONVERTEDFailure of Rain to Put in Appearance Yesterday Discouraging to Believers in Rule.

RAINFALL FOR SEVEN SUNDAYS

A lot of superstitious people have been converted because it didn't rain yesterday. When rain falls Easter, it is due to fall for seven consecutive Sundays, including Easter, according to the old belief that has always been adhered to by many people.

But now that the rule has been shown up by the weather man, it is possible that there will not be so many who will abide by it in the future. This year it rained Easter and for five successive Sundays thereafter. Yesterday was the sixth and last Sunday. No rain fell. But some people who like to be superstitious still cling to it, having for an excuse that a rule's not a rule without exceptions.

F. A. Maibough, manager of the base ball team believed in signs. Now he doesn't. He refused to announce a game for yesterday because rain was on the schedule. Next Sunday the team will play its first regular game.

HENRY COUNTY MEN

Automobiles Made Yesterday
Under Ideal Conditions.

YOUNG GIRL DRIVES A CAR

Henry county owners of Maxwell-Columbia automobiles passed through Rushville about twelve o'clock on the third annual tour, arranged by J. A. Newby, manager of the United Motor-Newcastle Company. The tourists attracted considerable attention here. The pathfinder passed through here three hours ahead of the caravan of autos. It was driven by Frank E. Smith, manager of the Maxwell-Briscoe factory. Confetti was strung along the route to mark the path for the party. The pilot car was driven by J. A. Newby. A Maxwell Messenger, driven by the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newby, was the most attractive car of the lot. The party ate dinner in Roberts park at Connersville. The Newcastle papers said a hundred were entered in the run, but only fifty-six passed through here.

SECOND STREET
RESORT RAIDEDMrs. Alice Lloyd and Charles Shockley Arrested Saturday Night in Raid on Her Home.

BOTH PLEADED NOT GUILTY

Woman Charged With Conducting
House of Ill Fame and He With Visiting.

For the first time in many years the police here raided an alleged house of ill fame Saturday night. The house was that of Mrs. Alice Lloyd, 503 West Second street. They arrested Mrs. Lloyd and Charles Shockley. The two were arraigned before Mayor Black this morning. Mrs. Lloyd was charged with conducting a house of ill fame and Shockley with visiting a house of ill fame.

Both the parties caught in the raid entered a plea of not guilty and the cases were set for trial this afternoon, but were continued. Shockley was unable to give bond and went back to jail. The cases may be tried some time this week.

For some time the police have been receiving complaints about the way Mrs. Lloyd conducted her home. Saturday night several complaints were made that Shockley was there and was raising a disturbance. About twelve o'clock the police went to the place and took Mrs. Lloyd and Shockley to jail. A large crowd was on hand at the mayor's office this morning.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Lloyd filed suit for divorce from her husband, Joel Lloyd. Judge Blair heard the case this term of court and has it under advisement at this time. Joel Lloyd is now in Osgood. Mrs. Lloyd, it is understood, wants to go back to her husband. Because of the bad influence the occurrence of Saturday night might have on her two young daughters, the police desire that the couple square their differences as it would mean her removal from the city and avoid future trouble. Shockley recently secured a divorce and is a police character, having been mixed up in several scrapes.

The police have their eyes on several other houses here that they are suspicious of and say they will clean them all out. They point out that these people should take this as an example.

COMMENCEMENT TONIGHT

Three to be Graduated From Gwynne-ville High School.

Three pupils, Herbert Kamper, Edgar Lewis and George Wilcoxen, will be graduated from the Gwynneville high school this evening. The commencement exercises will be held in the Christian church there and the address will be delivered by the Rev. Harry G. Hill of Indianapolis. The baccalaureate sermon was preached last night by the Rev. Mr. Tinsley of Morristown in the Christian church at Gwynneville.

GYPSY FAILS TO MAKE GET-A-WAYShe is Successful in Deftly Removing
$10 From Dr. J. B. Kinsinger's
Purse Though.

SLIPS OUT BEFORE DISCOVERY

People Down Town Take up Chase of Fortune Teller Who Couldn't Elude Police.

After separating Dr. J. B. Kinsinger from a ten dollar bill, a gypsy fortune teller who so deftly handled the physician's pocketbook that he did not discover the loss until she had slipped out, started out of the city with the band which accompanied her, but got no farther than the iron bridge of the connersville pike east of the city before she was caught by the police and compelled to refund the money.

The police at first intended to bring her after he had gained possession Kinsinger did not care to prosecute her after he had gained possession of his ten dollar bill, and the police deemed it the wisest plan to be rid of the gang instead of hauling the woman into court and having the gang hanging around the city for several days.

The chase attracted twenty-five or thirty automobiles and a hundred or more people. Every person who had a vehicle that would carry one or more followed the crowd. The east pike was jammed with vehicles when the catch was made by the police, and it was some time before all of the automobiles and buggies could be extracted from the jam.

It is understood that the gypsy woman went into Dr. Kinsinger's office and asked for the privilege of telling his fortune. He refused and she asked for a glance at his pocketbook. Not thinking that she could make a successful get-a-way with the pocketbook or any of the money it contained, Dr. Kinsinger granted her request.

She gently "eased" out of the office—that gypsy fortune teller did—before Dr. Kinsinger fully realized that he had the purse in his possession. But her sudden departure made him suspicious. He examined the contents and found that ten dollars had been stolen.

Just how the gypsy slipped the ten dollar bill out of the purse is quite a mystery to Dr. Kinsinger. She did it in his presence, and before his very eyes, but it was so cleverly executed that Dr. Kinsinger was not aware of the theft until she had gone.

Dr. Kinsinger sounded the alarm that he had been robbed by a gypsy and soon every person in the business district of the city was on the trail of the band. They were sighted driving out Second street and autoists, motorcycleists, bicyclists, people driving horses and any number of pedestrians took up the chase.

The gypsies were intent on leaving the city very hurriedly with the ten. They never stopped to look or listen. Their "plugs" were running at break-neck speed when the first automobile got ahead of the band to head them off. They were finally compelled to stop, and the fortune teller, when identified by Dr. Kinsinger, reluctantly admitted she had stolen the ten and passed it over to the police.

The incident recalls a similar one at Raleigh a few weeks ago. Under the same conditions a gypsy fortune teller stole four dollars from an old man. She was caught after an exciting chase in an automobile and compelled to refund the money.

Earthquake shocks in Japan are very common. They average more than five hundred a year.

MOTORCYCLIST TUMBLES

Russell Kirkpatrick Turns Scmer-sault When Hub Breaks.

Russell Kirkpatrick turned several somersaults through the air yesterday, when the hub of the front wheel of his motorcycle gave away and dumped him while he was running at a merry clip. Kirkpatrick was not seriously hurt. He sustained a few cuts and bruises about the head, one of the flesh wounds being so severe that it was necessary to take two stitches to close it. The accident happened at "Speedway" over at Riverside park.

AUTOMOBILE GOES
OVER ON ITS SNOOTBut Decatur County Swains, Bent on Visiting Rush County Dames, Couldn't Make Turn.

ESCAPE WITHOUT SCRATCH

Cleo Ensweller and Harry Logan, two young men living between Clarksville and Greensburg, were enroute to call on some Rush county fair dames yesterday when they came to a turn in the road which was, as later developed, more than they could make with their automobile. Instead of doing the turn the automobile just ran off a steep embankment and stuck its snout in the turf. The machine was poised on the hood but luck this time favored the two Decatur county swains and the automobile retained its balance and remained in the ungainly position until the two men were able to climb out of it uninjured. In fact the automobile remained in the same position until a car from Norris' garage was sent out to "tow" it into Rushville.

The two men were coming north past Frank Capp's farm and expected to turn back southwest at the "Y" where the Milroy pike joins that road. They could not quite complete the turn and went off down the embankment at the west side of the pike.

The automobile was damaged very slightly. The lights were smashed and the hood dented up a bit. The two men left their car here and were taken home last night in a machine from the Rushville Vulcanizing Company's garage.

STRAWBERRIES IN GOOD CONDITIONHorticulturist Says the Vines Never Were so Full of Blossoms as They Are Now.

ACREAGE IS SMALL, HOWEVER

Strawberries and other small fruits and orchard crops were not injured by the rains and cold weather of the last few days, according to the statement of a prominent horticulturist.

Fruit trees and berries had completed pollenization before the rain set in, and with the young fruit formed the rain was a boon rather than a source of alarm to growers.

Strawberry vines were never so full as they are this year. It is expected that prices will not be low, however, because there is a small acreage this season, due to the drouth of last year which destroyed many plants.

STRIKE WHILE
IRON IS HOTIn Baccalaureate Sermon the Rev. J.
B. Meacham Draws Lesson
From Life of Paul.

WHO TARRIED AT EPHESUS

Minister Tells Graduating Class What
They do is Revelation of What They Are.

"Strike while the iron is hot, was the admonition of the Rev. John B. Meacham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, given to the graduating class of the Rushville high school at the annual baccalaureate sermon delivered at the Main Street Christian church last evening.

The Rev. Mr. Meacham drew the lesson for his sermon from the Scriptures which relate to Paul tarrying at Ephesus until Pentecost. The minister's subject was "Tarry at Ephesus" and he emphasized that in tarrying at Ephesus Paul delivered telling blows against his adversaries, not because he was there on a summer vacation, but because he acted when the time was ripe.

People were turned away from the church last night. The immense crowd gathered to attend the annual exercises filled the immense auditorium and the Sunday school room of the largest house of worship in the city. Practically every foot of seating space was utilized, and still a number of people could not get into the church.

The musical program was an especially enjoyable feature of the evening. The anthem, "Sun of My Soul" as sung by the choir, and a selection by the quartet—Mrs. M. R. McDaniel, Miss Georgia Wyatt, B. F. Miller, and Jesse Pugh—in which Mr. Pugh had a solo part, were very much appreciated. Miss Hazel Spurrier Swiehart of Cleveland, Ohio, sang "The 91st Psalm" splendidly.

"Graduation from the high school is fraught with dangers," said the Rev. Mr. Meacham. "The word diploma has proved to many to be dangerous. It implies completion. The idea of a complete education should never be associated with a diploma. To stop now with only a glimpse of the promised land would be sad indeed."

The minister pointed out that one who graduates holds in his right hand uncompleted talents which may be brought into the greatest usefulness. But the true badge of royal manhood and womanhood is character, the Rev. Mr. Meacham declared.

"The question, 'Who am I?' continued the pastor, "surpasses any that the young man or young woman may ask. When the character is moulded the adversaries will still be there, but he will be better prepared to meet them."

The Rev. Mr. Meacham asserted that there never was a time in history when the door of opportunity swung open wider to the poor boy. He quoted one who said we are living in the age of the poor boy. But the youth who is poor in spirit is the only truly poor, was the assertion of the speaker.

"The individual who waits for a pull or something to turn up," said the Rev. Mr. Meacham, "must learn the lesson taught by the lad whose sister, while sitting in the swing, asked him to give her a start, and he replied for her to put her feet to the ground and start herself."

The minister pointed out that there is wisdom and philosophy in such advice as that. He reverted to the pages of history to stand witness to the fact and that the men who

MINERS GLAD TO RETURN TO WORK

Final Agreement Will Be Signed Up Today.

CLEARING OUT THE COLLIERIES

Repair Men Will Report at Once and in Most of the Mines Work Will Be Resumed the Last of This Week or the First of Next—Something Regarding the Enormous Cost of the Eight Weeks' Suspension.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 20.—Arrangements have been completed by President White of the mine workers' union and other officials for a final conference with the coal operators' committee at Philadelphia this afternoon. At this conference the agreement by the convention will be signed and the suspension of work, which has lasted seven weeks, will formally cease. President Baer of the Philadelphia & Reading, the chairman of the committee, sent word here that he would endeavor to have the other members at his office by 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Sunday throughout the region the delegates who attended the convention were welcomed by their local unions and their course in deciding to support their national officers and adopt their report and recommendations was heartily endorsed.

Officials of the coal companies are no less pleased and they will get the mines in shape for a resumption of work quickly. Repair men who will report at once may clear out some of the mines where water and gas have gathered so that coal may be mined on Wednesday, but mining in most of the collieries will have to be deferred until the end of this week or the beginning of next. Many of the mining officials praise President White highly and declare their faith in him as a conservative and thoroughly reliable leader.

The suspension started seven weeks ago today, but as most of the mines will not resume until next week, the period of idleness will be practically eight weeks. In that time the losses due to the suspension are estimated as follows: Loss in wages of mine employees, $17,000,000; loss to coal companies in net profits, $10,800,000; loss to sellers of supplies and materials for mining, $5,000,000; loss to railroads in coal freight charges, $19,000,000; loss in wages of idle coal train crews, $250,000; loss to merchants in trade, $16,000,000, or a total of more than $68,000,000.

READY TO DIE

Murderer Richeson Apparently Reconciled to His Doom.

Boston, May 20.—Unless something unforeseen occurs, Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the slayer of Avis Linnell, will be sent to the electric chair shortly after midnight tonight. General Bridges, warden of the prison, upon whose shoulders falls the unpleasant duty of carrying out the court's order, is not permitted by law to make public the exact time when an execution is to take place. He is allowed, however, to notify witnesses. The law reads that the execution shall be between midnight and sunrise, and it is understood that the young Virginian will take leave of this world between 12:01 and 12:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

Richeson is ready to die. He sent this word to Warden Bridges: "I'm all ready to go to the chair. You need not be afraid that anything will happen. The sooner I die the better for myself and all concerned."

The condemned man spent his last Sunday on earth discussing religious topics with the clergymen in attendance upon him.

Ends Life, Fearing Disease.

Lafayette, Ind., May 20.—Fear that she was a victim of tuberculosis caused Miss Blanche Howard, twenty-three years old, to end her life by swallowing two ounces of carbolic acid. She died three hours after taking the poison. Last winter Miss Howard contracted a severe cold and one of her lungs was affected as a result. This seemed to worry her.

He Was Disappointed.

Lebanon, Ky., May 20.—R. H. Lambe found some rock near Bradfordsville which appeared to contain gold, and sent several specimens to an assayer. He has been notified that the metal is gold, but that it only runs $1.20 to the ton and the limit at which it could be worked profitably is $3 a ton.

Costly Blaze at Houston.

Houston, Tex., May 20.—One million dollars' loss was the toll claimed by fire in the central business district of Houston early Sunday morning. The fire originated in the six-story Stowers building, destroying that structure and three other buildings and damaging four others.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 20.—The Lake Mohonk conference on international arbitration adjourned following announcement of the inauguration of a nation wide movement to link the churches of the United States to the movement to secure international peace.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Returns received at the union's headquarters here on the vote cast in unions throughout the United States and Canada show the re-election of President James M. FIRE LOSSES IN THIS COUNTRY EXCESSIVE Permanent Waste of Property Appalling.

Albany, N. Y., May 20.—The fire losses in this country and Canada for 1910 and 1911 were excessive when compared with the year 1909, according to the annual report of the state insurance department. The losses for 1911 are stated to have been something over $234,000,000. This, roughly speaking, based on population, would make a per capita loss of between $2 and $3, as against an estimated per capita loss in Europe of less than 40 cents.

"It would seem," says the report "from these figures that the consideration of the important question of fire prevention, which has had more or less attention from the press and from the legislatures of various states in the past two or three years, has not yet shown any appreciable general results. It deserves a most intelligent and painstaking study followed by prompt and effective action. It is a matter of the first importance to this country, where the permanent waste of property values by fire is appallingly large. The recent organization of fire prevention bureaus and societies in several states is beyond doubt a long step in the right direction, and will, if properly managed and extended, produce results of great value."

In Memory of Conwell Adams.

Death has entered in our home,
Softly came the angel's wing,
Took him in his snowy mantle
Now in heavenly choir he sings.
All earthly sorrow, now are over
And he waited for us afar,
For he whispered as he left us
Leave the pearly gates ajar.

Oh, precious one thou has left us
Here the loss we deeply feel.
But the God who has bereft us,
All our sorrows he can heal.

We miss him from his class,
We miss him from his home,
We miss his smiling face
Wherever he may roam.

He was his father's pride,
He was his mother's precious child;
The joy of her heart.

WOMEN'S WOES

Rushville Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Sick kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and much suffering is saved. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Men Who Buy a Dog on Last Day of February Run a Big Risk.

If you bought a dog on the last day of February and didn't buy a license you would be liable for prosecution.

The assessor could make you pay another dollar when he came around the next day, March 1. That would make two dollars you would have to pay to the assessor if you purchased a dog on the last day of February and didn't want to run the risk of being prosecuted.

Dog licenses are not transferable. If the former owner of the dog that you bought had a license on the dog you would have to buy another one or else run the risk of being fined.

It is the time of the year when small boys are beginning to entertain suspicions for the safety of their friend, the pup. An erroneous idea seems to exist among people in Rush county and in other counties that the assessor is a villain, an assassin, who is only too glad to have the chance to shoot the houn'. The face of the matter is that the township assessor does not shoot dogs but fines the owners, who fail to buy their license.

A large number of sheep are killed each year by dogs and the tax on them that is collected yearly goes to recompense the owners of the slain sheep.

After May 15 the township assessor turns over to the trustee the names of those delinquent in their taxes and this official waits about a month for the tardy ones to pay, then he in turn hands the remaining names to the prosecuting attorney for immediate attention. The usual fine is about $10.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

WANT CLEAN-UP DAY.

(Shelbyville Republican.)

Shelbyville, usually so progressive in most things, is in the rear ranks on a public or general clean up day. This is a time when our city should have every bit of garbage, dirt, old trash, old boxes, barrels, etc., removed from back yards, vacant lots, cellars, alleys, streets and any other place where such stuff finds a lodging place. There are a number of unsightly places in Shelbyville and a number of others that are absolutely unhealthy. There is no necessity for this. It can all be remedied by a general public Clean Up Day.

The public would gather up everything that had accumulated during the winter, place it in accessible places and it would be hauled away by teams provided by the city. Of course everybody pays for hauling their own ashes away. The city simply pays for the extra cleaning up of little stuff that is not sufficient for any one family to have hauled away but in the aggregate is a big thing.

The clean up day was such a success at Greenfield that there is a demand for a regular garbage hauler, as in the larger cities. It is possible that an ordinance originating with the health board, will be presented to the council there which will provide for the gathering up and carting away of all garbage from the homes of the city. The same ordinance, if presented, will also provide for the compulsory keeping of garbage, slop, etc., in closed vessels, which will be kept in a convenient place for the garbage collector who will make regular trips every week or at intervals of two weeks, or oftener if necessary.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets, Darius Downey, of Newburg Junction, N. B., writes, "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effectual and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. GASOLINE CARS ON RAILROADS

Innovation May Revolutionize Transportation.

TO BE TRIED OUT IN INDIANA

Two Roads Already Have Purchased Cars of This Type and a Couple of Interurban Companies Have Requested Demonstrations with a View to Installing the New Motors—Railroads Interested in Developments.

Huntington, Ind., May 20.—An entirely new type of railroad passenger car that bids fair to revolutionize the transportation methods of the state was assured introduction into Indiana when Judge Cook of the Huntington circuit court granted permission for the purchase of three gasoline electric cars for the C. B. & C. railroad.

The short line which operates between this city and Portland and about which a heated dispute centered until a short time ago, when Judge Cook refused its sale for electrification purposes, will discard its steam passenger trains before Aug. 1 and begin the exclusive use of the new invention.

The prediction of J. C. Curtis, receiver of the C. B. & C., that the gasoline electric will eventually create a new epoch in the railroad history of the state, seems to be borne out by added developments. It has become known that three cars have been purchased by the Chicago, Terre Haute & Eastern at Terre Haute. Five others will be purchased by this line immediately, it is understood. Furthermore it has developed that at least two interurban companies of northern Indiana have requested demonstration and that the subject of purchase is being given serious consideration by them.

BIG FIRE LOSS

Marion's Business District For a Time Was Threatened.

Marion, Ind., May 20.—For more than twelve hours every member of the Marion fire department and scores of volunteers fought flames in big buildings on Courthouse square which entailed a loss estimated to be in excess of $200,000. It was the worst fire in the history of Marion and for several hours the whole business section of the city was threatened. Mayor Wilson called on Kokomo for help, that city responding by sending firemen with hose and other fire-fighting apparatus.

Among those who suffered heavy losses was the First National bank, the fixtures in which were destroyed, the estimated damage being $15,000. The Woolworth Five and Ten Cent store was destroyed, the stock, valued at $7,000, being consumed. There was also a heavy loss in the Swayzee market. Several small business concerns, as well as professional men and residents on the upper stories, were heavy losers.

WEEKLY WAGE

This Is the Chief Stumbling Block in the Case of the Miners.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 20.—After three days spent in joint conference and joint scale committee sessions, the Indiana coal miners and operators adjourned over Sunday without having accomplished anything toward making a settlement of their troubles. According to leaders of both sides the principal barrier in the way of effecting a settlement is the miners' demand for the weekly pay.

Both sides are arrayed in stubborn contest on this proposition. With the arrival in the city early this week of John P. White and Frank Hayes, president and vice president of the International Organization of Mine Workers, it is believed that a basis for a settlement will be worked out.

Odd Fellows' Grand Lodge.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Nearly every I. O. O. F. lodge in the state will be represented at the semi-annual convention here Wednesday and Thursday, and, together with the representatives of the Rebekah assembly, which convened today, about 2,000 visitors will be in the city. The latter organization opened this afternoon at 2 p. m., with a reception to the officers. The business meetings of the Rebekahs will continue through tomorrow, when the new officers will be announced.

Big Shortages Alleged.

Indianapolis, May 20.—The state board of accounts has sent to Governor Marshall reports of shortages in the accounts of six former officials of the city of East Chicago, Lake county, which showed a total of direct charges against the officials of $9,362.39, and a total in constructive charges of $5,663.93.

They Began Young.

Indianapolis, May 20.—Confessions by two gangs of boy burglars who had been arrested and were questioned at police headquarters cleared up a long list of robberies which have been puzzling the police, and disclosed a well organized plan of thieving. The boys confessed fourteen robberies of stores and dwelling houses.

Newspaper Bill.

The Barnhart newspaper bill, introduced as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill, not because it belongs there, but because that is a popular method of getting a bill through, has passed the house by a vote of 243 to 77. There seems to be no particular objection to the bill, in fact in instances where the names of publishers are not known, and the newspapers engage in scurrilous attack indiscriminately, it will do some good. In cities like Rushville the owners and publishers of newspapers are generally known.

The bill as it passed the house is at least interesting. It provides:

"That it shall be unlawful for any person, association, or corporation to enter or deposit, or to have entered or deposited, into the mails of the United States, as second-class mail matter, any newspaper, magazine or other periodical publication of like nature published in the United States, unless such publication shall have plainly printed in a conspicuous place therein the name or names of the managing editor or managing editors, the name or names of the publisher or publishers, and the name or names of the owner or owners, including the name or names of the owner or owners of stock, bonds or other securities to the amount of $550 or more, which have been issued or sold by the said person, association, or corporation owning or controlling such publication and which may be outstanding: Provided, that in the case of newspapers published daily or daily except Sunday, it shall be sufficient to publish said names once each week on the same day each week. WIFE OF SUICIDE
CLAIMS ESTATE

Mrs. Elva Hardin Bernardini Says
She Was Deserted Shortly
After the Wedding.

FOREMAN AT KNIGHTSTOWN
Suicide is Recalled by Case
Filed in Court.

Mrs. Elva Hardin Bernardini, wife of Ivo Bernardini, the Italian labor foreman who committed suicide in Knightstown last March, has filed proceedings in the Henry circuit court, proving her heirship to the Italian's estate and asking for an order for $350 in the hands of the county clerk, according to the Newcastle Courier. The money was the balance left from Bernardini's property after his affairs had been settled.

Mrs. Bernardini sets out in her petition that she was married September 9, 1908, in Springfield, Ohio, to the Italian. She was then identified with the American Salvation Army and is now working in the same capacity in Louisville, Ky.

The petition also states that Bernardini deserted his wife immediately after their marriage. The document is accompanied by the marriage certificate, certified copies of the marriage license and a sworn statement of the witness to the marriage.

Bernardini's suicide followed a sensational shooting in Knightstown, where he was employed on the Pennsylvania double track work. He was enamored with the wife of Fred Smith of Knightstown and quarreled with the woman and her husband. He shot both of them and then turned the gun on himself, inflicting a fatal wound. Smith and his wife recovered from the effects of their wounds. The Italian died three days later.

After being shot Bernardini was attended by Dr. F. J. Drake of Knightstown. His life was insured for $500 and Dr. Drake was appointed administrator of his estate.

Simple Prevention Methods to Control Typhoid Germ Carriers

Dr. J. P. Simonds, superintendent of the pathological laboratory of the state board of health, has undertaken a new problem in the affairs of the state board, that of discovering and training typhoid fever germ carriers in a manner of living that will not endanger the remaining members of the carriers' family.

One carrier, a woman, has been discovered, the first found in this state, but Dr. Simonds has declined to make public her name or in what part of the state she lives. Steps have already been taken to protect the other members of the family from taking the disease from her.

Through local physicians Dr. Simonds first made a study of the case and suspected that the woman was a carrier. She is a wife and mother. Nine years ago she had typhoid fever, and recently developed gall bladder trouble, which is frequently one of the indications of a typhoid carrier. Through subsequent examinations of bacteriological specimens collected under the direction of the state board, virtually all doubt has been removed of the woman's being a carrier. In three families, containing seventeen persons, with whom the woman was closely associated, there have recently been nine cases of typhoid fever which are now traced by the state authorities to the woman as the primary source.

The carrier is to be instructed as to how to prevent her spreading the disease, since the scientists have not yet discovered any effective method of stopping the excretion of germs by a carrier. There is no law in the state to provide for quarantining typhoid carriers, and Dr. Simonds said it would not be wise to enact such a law, as it would mean virtually quarantine for life.

The state authorities will watch the developments in the case carefully. In the opinion of the state health authorities, the discovery and control of the typhoid carriers, of whom there are undoubtedly many in the state, is one of the most important questions in the prevention of typhoid. For the control of carriers, Dr. Simonds said, instruction in simple methods of prevention will be relied on.

ANKLE CRUSHED WHILE WRESTLING

Elbert Gunning of Near Manilla is Severely Injured While Scuffling With Friend.

HARD TO GET MEDICAL AID

Elbert Gunning a prominent farmer living near Manilla, suffered a crushed ankle while wrestling with a friend one day recently and the injury may prove a most serious one, as it was several hours before he was able to secure medical attention. The broken bones were not set for several hours and in the meantime the foot had become swollen so badly that the physicians found their task a very difficult one. He was attended by Dr. John Green of Manilla and a physician from Homer.

The accident occurred while Mr. Gunning and Bert Ballard were indulging in a friendly scuffle. As Mr. Gunning was floored by his opponent his right foot doubled under him and caught the combined weight of himself and Mr. Ballard. It was necessary to give him an anaesthetic on account of the pain, as several of the bones in the foot were crushed.

COMPROMISE IN CIRCUIT COURT

Connersville $1,000 Damage Suit is Settled and Dismissed Before a Jury is Empanelled.

PARTITION SUIT IS CLOSED

City of Rushville Asks New Trial of Case it Lost to Herkless Bros. Recently.

The trouble of empaneling a jury—and it gave promise of being some trouble, too—ceased to be a trouble when the case of Christian Eby against John P. Carlos and Edward W. Anstead on an account, in which a thousand dollars damages was demanded, was compromised in court today.

The amount of the compromise was not disclosed. The court showed that the suit was dismissed and the costs adjudged against the defendant. The suit was sent here from Connersville on a change of venue. It had to do with the payment for the installing of a boiler in the Catholic church in Connersville.

The city of Rushville has filed a motion for a new trial in the damage suit of Herkless Brothers against the city and the Julius Keller Construction Company. The construction company has already asked for a new trial. A jury returned a verdict for $2,251.83 for the plaintiffs May 10.

A three hundred dollar bond was filed by the defendant in the paternity suit of the State on the relation of Mary Fears against William Archey.

The final report of the commissioner in the partition suit of Rachel Hopkins et al against Joseph M. Mitchell et al. was filed, approved by the court, and the commissioner was discharged.

Judge Blair has returned a finding and judgment for the plaintiffs in the partition suit of Alva M. Nelson, Alva Parrish, Ora E. Alva, John and Omer Hittle against Marshall Hittle and Abner Keaton. The court found the real estate involved could not be divided, and it was ordered sold by him.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have a Nestor entitled "A Matinee Mix-up" for the first picture tonight. The other is a Thanhouser, "The Signal Code." Tomorrow night a benefit for the Boy Scouts will be given. "The Fall of Troy," a beautiful colored picture in two reels will be the attraction. The story as told in the film is a sensational one taken from history and the attraction is a stupendous one.

The Portola has a good bill for tonight, showing a Vitagraph drama for the first. It is entitled "Mrs. Eary Awkins." The other is an Edison comedy, "The Baby." Wednesday night a feature "Tracked by Bloodhounds" will be shown.

The Princess has a Vitagraph feature, "How States Are Made." Not many years ago the United States government opened up its unoccupied land free to all settlers. They were drawn up in line after registering. At the firing of a cannon everybody made a rush to get a section of land. The story told in this picture is based on a land rush. It is a drama of thrilling and absorbing interest. The other film is a Pathe comedy, "A Midget Sherlock Holmes."

Mrs. J. M. Hinshaw, 235 So. 14th St., Richmond had a severe pain in her back and other indications of kidney trouble. She heard of the curative qualities of Foley Kidney Pills and took them. She says: "I was entirely relieved from the backache, my kidney action improved and I am now all over my trouble. I gladly recommend Foley Kidney Pills." F. B. Johnson & Co.

for the nomination we are pushing the Gate business with great success, and do not care who wins so long as the demand for gates, counties and states increases.

The States of Illinois and Kansas Heard From

Both of the above named States have been sold within the past six weeks to good reliable business men. Kansas is now being worked by the parties who purchased it with flattering results. The parties owning Illinois will take up the work about September 1st. The counties in this state are being sold rapidly and we expect to close them out within the next 60 days. We still have several of the best states for sale including Ohio, Pennsylvania, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri and others. Anyone looking for a larger investment than a county will find a state properly handled, MEANS A FORTUNE. It costs you nothing to investigate this business and I will be pleased to go over the matter with anyone who might become interested if they will call at my office

Reminiscences of SHERLOCK HOLMES by Arthur Conan Doyle Illustrations by V.L. Barnes

The ADVENTURE OF THE RED CIRCLE

"Well, Mrs. Warren, I cannot see that you have any particular cause for uneasiness, nor do I understand why I, whose time is of some value, should interfere in the matter. I really have other things to engage me." So spoke Sherlock Holmes, and turned back to the great scrapbook in which he was arranging and indexing some of his recent material.

But the landlady had the pertinacity, and also the cunning of her sex. She held her ground firmly.

"You arranged an affair for a lodger of mine last year," she said—"Mr. Fairdale Hobbs."

"Ah, yes—a simple matter." "But he would never cease talking of it—your kindness, sir, and the way in which you brought light into the darkness. I remembered his words when I was in doubt and darkness myself. I know you could if you only would."

Holmes was accessible upon the side of flattery, and also, to do him justice, upon the side of kindness. The two forces made him lay down his gun-brush with a sigh of resignation and push back his chair.

"Well, well, Mrs. Warren, let us hear about it, then. You don't object to tobacco, I take it? Thank you, Watson—the matches! You are uneasy, as I understand, because your new lodger remains in his room and you cannot see him. Why, bless you, Mrs. Warren, if I were your lodger you often would not see me for weeks on end."

"No doubt, sir; but this is different. It frightens me, Mr. Holmes. I can't sleep for fright. To hear his quick step moving here and moving there from early morning to late at night, and yet never to catch so much as a glimpse of him—it's more than I can stand. My husband is as nervous over it as I am, but he is out at his work all day, while I get no rest from it. What is he hiding for? What has he done? Except for the girl, I am all alone in the house with him, and it's more than my nerves can stand."

Holmes leaned forward and laid his long, thin fingers upon the woman's shoulder. He had an almost hypnotic power of soothing when he wished. The scared look faded from her eyes, and her agitated features smoothed into their usual commonplace. She sat down in the chair which he had indicated.

"If I take it up I must understand every detail," said he. "Take time to consider. The smallest point may be the most essential. You say that the man came ten days ago, and paid you

GIRL ALWAYS WEAK

Tells How She Became Strong and Vigorous.

"When I see pale, puny children on the street I always wonder what their parents are doing, if anything, to build up their strength," said a well-dressed man the other day.

Mary Lang, of Altoona, Pa., was one such child. Her story is told in one of her own letters. "Ever since childhood," she says, "I have been weak and delicate and my blood has been thin and poor. Many different forms of treatment did me no good but last spring I took Vinol and now I am so much stronger and better that I want you to know it. I don't know when I have felt so well and vigorous as I have since taking Vinol."

We only wish that every weak, rundown sickly person would realize that Vinol is the one best remedy to enrich the blood, build up the body and put the glow of health in pale cheeks. "Your money back if you are not pleased" is the way we sell Vinol, so you can see we believe in it. F. B. Johnson & Co., druggists, Rushville, Ind.

Folks Past Fifty Must Use Gascarets

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes,
Gascarets Are to Weak Bowels
—A Ten Cent Box Will Amaze
You.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old need Gascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash cannot be used every day. What the bowels need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. Then only such tonic as Gascarets and they are only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

for a fortnight's board and lodging?" "He asked my terms, sir. I said fifty shillings a week. There is a small sitting-room and bedroom, and all complete, at the top of the house."

"Well?" "He said, 'I'll pay you five pounds a week if I can have it on my own terms.' I'm a poor woman, sir, and Mr. Warren earns little, and the money meant much to me. He took out a ten-pound note, and he held it out to me then and there. 'You can have the same every fortnight for a long time to come if you keep the terms,' he said. 'If not, I'll have no more to do with you.'"

"What were the terms?" "Well, sir, they were that he was to have a key of the house. That was all right. Lodgers often have them. Also, that he was to be left entirely to himself, and never, upon any excuse, to be disturbed."

"Nothing very wonderful in that, surely?" "Not in reason, sir. But this is out of all reason. He has been there for ten days, and neither Mr. Warren nor I nor the girl has once set eyes upon him. We can hear that quick step of his pacing up and down, up and down, night, morning and noon; but except on that first night he has never once gone out of the house."

"Oh, he went out the first night, did he?" "Yes, sir, and returned very late—after we were all in bed. He told me after he had taken the rooms that he would do so, and asked me not to bar the door. I heard him come up the stair after midnight."

"But his meals?" "It was his particular direction that we should always, when he rang, leave his meal upon a chair outside his door. Then he rings again when he has finished, and we take it down from the same chair. If he wants anything else he prints it on a slip of paper and leaves it."

"Prints it?" "Yes, sir; prints it in pencil. Just the word, nothing more. Here's one I brought to show you—SOAP. Here's another—MATCH. This is the first morning—DAILY GAZETTE. I leave that paper with his breakfast every morning."

"Dear me, Watson," said Holmes, staring with great curiosity at the slips of foolscap which the landlady had handed to him, "this is certainly a little unusual. Seclusion I can understand; by what print? Printing is a clumsy process. Why not write? What would it suggest, Watson?"

"That he desired to conceal his handwriting."

"But why? What can it matter to him that his landlady should have a word of his writing? Still, it may be as you say. Then, again, why such laconic messages?"

"I cannot imagine."

"It opens a pleasing field for intelligent speculation. The words are written with a broad-pointed, violet-tinted pencil of a not unusual pattern. You will observe that the paper is torn away at the side here after the printing was done, so that the 'S' of 'SOAP' is partly gone. Suggestive, Watson, is it not?"

"Of caution?"

"Exactly. There was evidently some mark, some thumb print, something which might give a clue to the person's identity. Now, Mrs. Warren, you say that the man was of middle size, dark and bearded. What age would he be?"

"Youngish—not over thirty."

"Well, can you give me no further indications?"

"He spoke good English, sir, and yet I thought he was a foreigner by his accent."

"And he was well dressed?"

"Very smartly dressed, sir—quite the gentleman. Dark clothes—nothing you would note."

"He gave no name?"

"No, sir."

"And has had no letters or callers?"

"None."

"But surely you or the girl enter his room of a morning?"

"No, sir; he looks after himself entirely."

"Dear me! that is certainly remarkable. What about his luggage?"

"He had one big brown bag with him—nothing else."

"Well, we don't seem to have much material to help us. Do you say nothing has come out of that room—absolutely nothing?"

The landlady drew an envelope from her bag; from it she shook out two burnt matches and a cigarette-end upon the table.

"They were on his tray this morning. I brought them because I had heard that you can read great things out of small ones."

Holmes shrugged his shoulders. "There is nothing here," said he. "The matches have, of course, been used to light cigarettes. That is obvious from the shortness of the burnt end. Half the match is consumed in lighting a pipe or a cigar. But, dear me! this cigarette stub is certainly remarkable. The gentleman was bearded and mustached, you say?"

"Yes, sir."

"I don't understand that. I should say that only a clean-shaven man could have smoked this. Why, Watson, even your modest mustache would have been singed."

"A holder?" I suggested.

"No, no; the end is matted. I suppose there could not be two people in your rooms, Mrs. Warren?"

"No, sir. He eats so little that I often wonder it can keep life in one."

"Well, I think we must wait for a little more material. After all, you have received your rent, and he is not a troublesome lodger, through he is certainly an unusual one. He pays you well, and if he chooses to lie concealed it is no direct business of yours. We have no excuse for an intrusion upon his privacy until we have some reason to think that there is a guilty reason for it. I've taken up the matter, and I won't lose sight of it. OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded
and Gray Hair—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowdays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days, you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

occurs, and rely upon my assistance if it should be needed.

"There are certainly some points of interest in this case, Watson," he remarked, when the landlady had left us. "It may, of course, be trivial—individual eccentricity; or it may be very much deeper than appears on the surface. The first thing that strikes one is the obvious possibility that the person now in the rooms may be entirely different from the one who engaged them."

"Why should you think so?"

"Well, apart from this cigarette-end, was it not suggestive that the only time the lodger went out was immediately after his taking the rooms? He came back—or someone came back—when all witnesses were out of the way. We have no proof that the person who came back was the person who went out. Then, again, the man who took the rooms spoke English well. This other, however, prints 'match' when it should have been 'matches.' I can imagine that the word was taken out of a dictionary, which would give the noun but not the plural. The laconic style may be to conceal the absence of knowledge of English. Yes, Watson, there are good reasons to suspect that there has been a substitution of lodgers."

"But for what possible end?"

"Ah! there lies our problem. There is one rather obvious line of investigation." He took down the great book in which, day by day, he filed the agony columns of the various London journals. "Dear me!" said he, turning over the pages, "what a chorus of groans, cries and beatings! What a rag-bag of singular happenings! But surely the most valuable hunting-ground that ever was given to a student of the unusual! This person is alone, and cannot be approached by letter without a breach of that absolute secrecy which is desired. How is any news or any message to reach him from without? 'Lady with a black box at Prince's Skating club'—that we may pass. 'Surely Jimmy will not break his mother's heart'—that appears to be irrelevant. Patience and prudence. The clouds will pass—G.' Nothing for a week after that. Then comes something much more definite: 'The path is clearing. If I find chance signal message remember code agreed—one A, two B, and so on. You will hear soon—G.' That was in yesterday's paper, and there is nothing in today's. It's all very appropriate to Mrs. Warren's lodger. If we wait a little, Watson, I don't doubt that the affair will grow more intelligible."

So it proved; for in the morning I found my friend standing on the hearthrug with his back to the fire, and a smile of complete satisfaction upon his face.

REV. W. H. ROBERTS

For Many Years Stated Clerk of Presbyterian General Assembly.

PRESBYTERIANS PUT PRECEDENT TO ROUT

Clerk Roberts's Iron Glad Docket Broken.

Louisville, Ky., May 20.—A significant bit of insurgency broke out in the Presbyterian assembly when the executive commission, desiring to present an important subject, today asked for an order postponing all other matters of business until they could dispose of this one subject.

Stated Clerk Roberts, as creator and guardian of the ironclad docket, protested that the request violated all precedents of Presbyterian legislatures. His objection was overruled. It took a two-thirds vote to break the traditional docket, but the affirmative shout from the commissioners in favor of the innovation was so overwhelming that Dr. Roberts had no heart to call for a test vote.

Immediately afterward the passing of a similar order for Thursday still more hopelessly fractured the time-honored custom.

Methodists Retain Old Rule.

Minneapolis, May 20.—Methodism's book of discipline will remain as rigid as before, at least for the next four years. On a viva voce vote the paragraph relating to proscribed amusements was retained by the general conference. The vote was 446 to 369, leaving a narrow majority of seventy-five in favor of retention.

FUNERAL OF A KING

The Body of Frederick VIII. Lying in State in the Palace.

Copenhagen, May 20.—The chapel in the Christianborg palace, where the body of King Frederick rests, was opened to the public for the official lying in state of the dead monarch this morning. The coffin, which is covered only with the royal flag, is placed on a high gold and black catafalque. Over it there is a royal mantle of red velvet on which there is wrought a golden crown which is lined with ermine. Over the foot of the coffin are the orb and scepter and the king's sword, orders and shield. There are silver candelabra at each corner of the coffin and also historical silver lions from Roseborg castle. There are about 2,000 wreaths on the floor.

Aeroplane Plunged Into Crowd.

London, May 20.—While a military aviator was descending at Amesbury a crowd of the curious which had collected rushed and before the police could straighten things out one person was killed and four injured.

R. E. CABELL

Internal Revenue Collector
Who Levies Corporation Tax.

Washington, May 20.—That general business conditions were better in 1910 than in 1911 is indicated in a statement made public by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Cabell, analyzing the corporation tax returns for the last two years. The tax returns, which are an index of business conditions, show that in the first ten months of this year the returns for that period amounted to $28,278,118, or $1,154,236 less than in the corresponding period of last year.

Uncle Sam Takes a Hand in Panama Campaign.

Washington, May 20.—At the registration booths in Colon today the committee appointed by President Taft to supervise the elections to be held in the republic of Panama began their work. The commission, which consists of United States Minister Dodge, Colonel Goethals, in charge of the canal construction, and Colonel Greene of the army, have met with representatives of the administration and opposition parties and agreed upon a scheme of procedure. It is proposed to have the registration of voters take place in the different districts successively. Some member or members of the commission will attend each registration, accompanied by a small guard of soldiers or marines. It is proposed that the commission adjust promptly any disputes which may arise between the factionalists at the polls. The supervision will also continue in effect until the actual voting for candidates has been completed.

This commission was appointed by President Taft at the request of both parties in Panama. The leaders of each feared that partisans of the others would cause disorder at the elections, unless the United States took a hand. Their fears proved well founded, as a number of riots occurred in the early days of registration. The Panama elections will take place in July.

Big Levee Gave Way.

New Orleans, May 20.—While the government engineers were battling with the Mississippi river flood at Hymelia, the levee on the left bank of the Atchafalaya river in front of Dr. Gordon's plantation and a mile above Odenburg, gave way. The water rushed in a southerly direction through Avoyelles parish and into St. Landry. The water at Melville, twenty miles to the south, is waist deep. The break is 200 feet and rapidly growing wider.

Harry New to Decide.

Chicago, May 20.—The members of the subcommittee on arrangements for the Republican national convention adjourned here without naming a temporary chairman for the convention, the committee deciding to leave the selection of a temporary chairman to Harry S. New, chairman of the subcommittee.

DISEASES LESSEN THE POTATO CROP

Purdue Expert Gives Advice For The Elimination of Blights Attacking Tubers.

GOOD SEED IS MAIN ASSET

Treatment With Formaldehyde Sometimes Beneficial Because it Kills Service Germs.

F. J. Pipal, of the botanical department of the Purdue experiment station, is giving some valuable advice to Indiana potato growers regarding the precautions to be taken to eliminate various blights and diseases from the potato crop for this year. This advice may well be heeded, as every year the Indiana potato crop is materially reduced and a large portion of it is rendered unmarketable on account of several potato diseases. The most destructive of these are the well-known potato scab, the so-called early and late blights and the wilt and dry rot. The last mentioned disease gets in its most effective work after the potatoes have been gathered and stored. "The first and main precaution," says Mr. Pipal, "is for the grower to obtain seed potatoes from a field in which no scab, blight, etc., have occurred. These should be planted in clean, disease-free soil. If this is impossible any of the following precautionary and preventive measures should be adopted:

"If the seed potatoes are subjected to a treatment of soaking for two hours in a solution of twenty-five gallons of water, to which one pint of formaldehyde, also called formalin, has been added, potato scab diseases can be prevented. This disease is caused by a very minute plant parasite, which attacks the crop through the seed tubers or soil and moisture, as a rule, favors the spread. Even potatoes which show no conspicuous scab spots should be so treated, as they are likely to harbor disease germs. The formaldehyde solution should be placed in a large barrel or tank, and can be used for several consecutive treatments, remembering, however, that the solution weakens with use.

The early and late blights produce spots on the leaves, which extend until the whole leaf is diseased. The infection may also extend to the stem. The tubers usually become infected with some form of rot, either wet or dry, depending on the soil in which the potatoes are grown. This is produced by bacteria and molds which enter the tissue previously killed by the late blight fungus. In storage the rot often continues to develop and may cause further loss.

Both of these diseases can be successfully controlled by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. The spraying would begin when the plants are about six inches high, and at least three thorough applications, from ten to fourteen days apart, should be given. This mixture should be of the 5-5-50 strength, or five pounds of copper sulphate, five pounds unslaked lime and fifty gallons of water, but may later be increased to 6-6-50.

The wilt or dry rot diseases produce a wilting of the potato plants and rotting of the tubers in storage. If a disease tuber is cut crosswise the infection can be seen at the stem end in the form of a brown or blackened ring. This renders the tubers unsuitable for table use. A treatment with formaldehyde solution is something beneficial, as it kills all disease germs which may be found on the surface or the otherwise sound tubers. Potatoes stored in a dry and cool place are less liable to rot injury than those kept in a damp and warm place.

STRIKE WHILE IRON IS HOT

stand out most prominently were those who did not wait for something to turn up.

The Rev. Mr. Meacham related incidents of John Wannamaker's early life and he recalled that Cornelius Vanderbilt tarried on the farm until he was seventeen years of age, but his years of tarrying were well spent.

"What more opportunities can any young man or woman need than Paul had?" asked the minister. With all the opportunities of this age, no doors will be opened without effort. Without courage, character, enterprise and resolute endeavor nothing will ever be realized.

"Be willing to drive a delivery wagon up and down the streets of your own town, but tarry not on the seat when the voice of opportunity calls you. Nor should you be willing to tarry when your duty calls you.

"Whatever you do is a revelation of what you are. To be, then, is greater than to do."

The Rev. Mr. Meacham admonished the graduate to tarry at the Ephesus of Calvary until their soul had satisfied its thirst. "Tarry with Him," continued the speaker, "until your vision grows larger and your prospective is wider. Tarry until you learn that all is temporal except the soul which is immortal.

"Take God into your life and character," was the closing advice of the pastor.

ARLINGTON DEFEATED 9 TO 0

The opening ball game of the season will be played next Sunday afternoon when the locals will take on the Connerville Grays at the South Main street grounds. The grand stand will be complete for the opener and the first game is expected to draw a large crowd.

In the practice game yesterday the Rushville team showed up strong and had little difficulty defeating Arlington 9 to 1. With more practice the team should develop into a winner. The outfield will be strengthened with the coming of Miller and Waybright. "Hop" Spaey of New Salem caught the game yesterday and may be a regular. Spaey was a power with the bat. Ed Carter will captain the team and play his old position, short stop.

The locals lined up as follows: Carter, short; Pea, third; Combs, first; Yazel, left; Goldman, second; Spaey, catch; Jordan, right; Gunning, center and Richie, pitch.

COUNTY MAY NOT SHOW INCREASE

Assessment in City of Rushville—

$2,211,725—Believed to be

Larger Than Last Year.

ONE TOWNSHIP STILL OUT

Value of Lots and Improvements in

City Assessed at $1,611,930—

Orange and Noble.

Three of the four township assessors who had not reported Saturday noon have since filed their reports in the auditor's office. They are the assessors of Noble, Orange and Rushville townships.

The Washington township assessor has not yet made his report. He was expected to do so some time this afternoon or tomorrow. He has been in very poor health and unable to come to Rushville. He just recently returned from a sanatorium at Martinsville, where he has been taking treatment.

Although the city of Rushville and the township outside the city is believed to have made a gain over the assessment of a year ago, it is still doubtful whether the total assessment for the county this year will equal that of a year ago.

As will be recalled the auditor said many of the townships suffered losses this year, as compared with last, but the few which did gain, made such a large gain that the actual loss on the whole county would not be very great. It is still thought that, when all of the township assessors have reported, the gain in Rushville township will not be great enough to put this year equal to last. The loss is ascribed principally to the ravages of hog cholera in the county last winter.

The total assessed value of lands, lots and improvements in the city is $2,211,725, according to the assessors' returns. There are 701 polls in the city.

The total cash value of the lands without improvements is $29,640; the improvements are valued at $84,270, and the total land and improvements is $113,910. Additional improvements are held at $2,950.

The total cash value of the city lots is $536,095; of lots and improvements combined, $1,075,835. The total assessed value of lots and improvements is $1,611,930. Additional improvements on city lots are assessed at $19,500.

The value of personal property and corporation stock in the city of Rushville is assessed at $463,435.

The total assessed value of property in the township outside the city is $1,730,680. There are 173 polls in this district. No dogs are listed in the returns of the city assessor.

Property in Noble township is assessed this year at $1,361,810. There are 173 polls and 174 dogs in the township.

In Orange township the total assessed value of property this year is $1,355,145. Two hundred polls are listed and 161 dogs were counted.
